

Issue 5

14/01/2008

Click on any of the headlines to go to the story:

- Emerging Global Cities
- Foundations of German banks questioned
- Gazprom closes in on Nigerian reserves
- The end of the search \(engine\)?
- Tata Motor set to gain global name
- UAE plan shift in economic profile

Welcome to Global Glance. Our editorial team will be happy to hear from you with suggestions for items to include in future issues. Please contact global_glance@gsb.strath.ac.uk

Source: Inc.com: The Daily Resource for Entrepreneurs
Country: United States of America

Emerging Global Cities

Inc.com provides a review of the hot spots across the world that might just be the next Shanghai.

Read full text

Source: Der Spiegel
Country: Germany

Foundations of German banks questioned

Recent problems caused by the credit crunch may signal deeper problems in Germany's state-owned banking system.

Read full text

Source: Business Day
Country: Nigeria

Gazprom closes in on Nigerian reserves

Gazprom, Russia's state-owned energy group, is seeking to win access to vast energy reserves in Nigeria.

Read full text

Source: eWeek
Country: United States of America

The end of the search (engine)?

The creator of Wikipedia is seeking to overthrow the dominance of Google & Yahoo with this open-source alternative.

Read full text

Source: MSN
Country: United Kingdom

Tata Motor set to gain global name

The maker of the $2,500 car is set to become a global car maker in 2008. Time to learn about the next big player.

Read full text

Source: The Khaleej Times
Country: United Arab Emirates

UAE plan shift in economic profile

The UAE plan to progressively change their oil-based economy over the coming decade planning to have 70% of GDP generated from non-carbon industries by 2010.

Read full text